

Colloque international

Judaism and the Political and Religious Challenge of the Roman Empire Le judaïsme face au défi politico-religieux de l'empire romain

9 et 10 juillet 2012
Aix-en-Provence, Maison méditerranéenne des sciences de l'homme, salle Paul Albert Février

Liste des intervenants par ordre alphabétique

Gabriella Aragione, Université de Strasbourg : "Christian Responses to the Ideological Representations of the Roman Imperial Power (2nd-4th Centuries)"

Katell Berthelot, CNRS (CPAF / Aix-en-Provence) : "The Impact of the Roman Empire on Jewish Discourse About Judaism, According to the Testimonies of Philo and Josephus"

Gilles Dorival, Aix-Marseille Université (CPAF) : "The Argument of Historical Success in Christianity"

Yaïr Furstenberg, Scholion Institute, Hebrew University of Jerusalem: "The Rabbis and the Challenge of Roman Law"

Hervé Inglebert, Université Paris Ouest Nanterre-La Défense : "Christian Conceptions of Universality and Their Connections with the Jewish Tradition and the Empire of Rome During the 2nd and the 3rd Centuries"

Wolfram Kinzig, Bonn University: "The Pagans and the Christian Bible"

Pierluigi Lanfranchi, Aix-Marseille Université (CPAF) : "Appeal to Tradition. Celsus on Jews, Christians, and the Roman Empire"

Carlos Lévy, Université Paris-Sorbonne (Paris IV) : "Yes We Can! The Role of Will (voluntas) in Roman Strength According to Cicero".

Matthias Morgenstern, Tübingen University: "The Roman Emperors in Rabbinic Sources"

Ron Naiweld, CNRS (LEM / Paris) : "Articulating Galut – The Use of Rabbinic Traditions about Rome in the Babylonian Talmud"

Peter Oakes, University of Manchester: "Views on the Variety of Relationships Between New Testament Texts and Roman Imperial Ideology"

Jonathan Price, Tel Aviv University: "The Perception of Rome in Greek Authors, Mostly During the Imperial Period"

Samuele Rocca, The Neri Bloomfield College, Haifa: "The Herodians as Client Kings of Rome: Self Perception, Ideology of Rule, or Just an Accommodation to Circumstances?"

Emmanuelle Rosso, Aix-Marseille Université (Centre Camille Jullian) : "La guerre juive et l'avènement de Vespasien : jeux de miroirs".

Adiel Schremer, Bar-Ilan University: "Exultant Kingdom, Culpable Kingdom, Evil Kingdom, and Just a Kingdom: Shifting Perceptions of Rome in Early Rabbinic Literature"

Gregory Woolf, University of St Andrews: "Communicating Imperial Ideology in the Roman World"